Call for Papers

Cyber Research Conference Ireland

112 : 22 : 27 : 49
GMIT/Online

Academics, students and professionals working in the tech sector are being invited to participate in Ireland's first Cyber Research Conference. The conference will focus on both practical and theoretical aspects of cyber security, privacy, trust as well as the resilience of networks, systems and services. The human and legal dimension of cyber will also be covered.

The event is being organised by itag's (Innovation Technology AtlanTec Gateway) Cyber Forum in conjunction with Cyber Ireland, NUI Galway and Galway-Mayo Institute of Technology (GMIT).

Anyone who would like to participate is being encouraged to begin working on their paper ahead of the submission deadline of 29 January 2022. All submissions will be peer reviewed by the conference's distinguished team with feedback provided to the authors.

Further information is available at <https://cyber-rci.com/2022/>

Assistive Technology Resource

Helps students and staff to locate useful assistive technology

<https://www.ahead.ie/Discover-your-AT>

CCT Guide to Zotero Reference Management Software

<http://40.115.124.2/sp/subjects/guide.php?subject=Zotero>

The screenshot displays the 'CCT Learning Space' website. The header includes the 'cct' logo, 'College Dublin Computing • IT • Business', and 'CCT Learning Space'. A search bar is located in the top right corner. Below the header is a navigation menu with several tabs: 'Reference Management Software' (selected), 'Downloading Zotero', 'Creating Bibliographies/Reference Lists Using Zotero', and 'Using Zotero in Word for In-Text Citations'. Under the 'Reference Management Software' tab, there is a 'Useful Resources' section. This section contains a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International License logo and text stating that the guide is licensed under this license. Below the license information is the heading 'Introduction to Reference Management Software'. This section includes two sub-headings: 'What is Reference Management Software?' and 'What are the advantages of Reference Management Software?'. The text under 'What is Reference Management Software?' explains that reference management software stores and organizes information, listing examples like Endnote, Mendeley, and Zotero. The text under 'What are the advantages of Reference Management Software?' lists advantages of using reference management platforms over manual creation. To the right of the text is a video player titled 'The Benefits of Using a Reference Management Platform (Western Libraries)'. The video player shows a thumbnail with a play button and a list of references. The references listed are: 'Gale, S., O'Brien, J., A., Shaw, S., Shaw, S., & Sweeney, J. J. (2010). Computer-assisted reference services: A case study of the University of Limerick. Library Review, 59(1), 10-18.'; 'Parker, J., Lavelle, J., Brennan, G., Brennan, T., & W. (2010). The impact of reference management software on the user experience. Library Review, 59(1), 10-18.'; 'Parker, J., Lavelle, J., Brennan, G., Brennan, T., & W. (2010).
